Business has increased on the Rowland branch so much that Henry Lamers, the clever engineer, has been given a large, four wheel engine, known to railroad men as a "hog."

Fred Conn sent us two turkeys yesterday that weighed four pounds each. They are perfect in form and eat right where you hold them. Fred is the blue-ribbon turnip raiser of the season.

Judge Miller, of Louisville, held that morphine or cocaine drunkenness comes under the same head as whiskey drunkenness under the law. If this is put in force here, many of the "croak" friends will suffer.

The entertainment given by the Christian Endeavor Tuesday evening was pronounced as very entertaining and enjoyable. A large crowd was present.

Miss Eliza Lusk requests us to announce that the money will be here Saturday for the county teachers, which will be paid them at her office.

We will have our regular Fall and Winter opening of Cloaks and Furs, on Friday, Saturday and Monday, Oct. 11th, 12th and 14th.

The city tax books have been placed in my hands, and I am ready to receive taxes. Pay them now, as a penalty will be added November 1, and I will proceed according to law.

The L. and N. will sell round trip tickets to Lexington, account of the Kentucky Horse Breeders Association. Tickets on sale Oct. 7th to 18th inclusive. Final limit Oct. 19th. Reduced rates.

"The melancholly days have come" sighed a wag yesterday. Well suppose that's true, haven't the melancholly days just passed away? That's something to be thankful for.

The Logan Dry Goods Co., have moved their Cloak department up stairs where they have plenty of room and good light, and it will be no trouble to see their immense stock of Cloaks and Furs.

Dr. Hobson, the dentist, will be at the Garrard Hotel every second Monday in each month, fully prepared to wait on customers. If you want up-to-date work, done in the best possible manner, see him.

H. A. B. Marksberry & Son's car of northern seed wheat has arrived, and test 64 to 66 pounds to the bushel. We have several varieties of home grown seed wheat, screened and splendid, for sale. Get your seed wheat now.

We are soon to have an order of A. O. U. W.'s in Lancaster. Mr. W. E. Gilkison, Deputy Grand Master Workman has a large list already and is adding them every day. This lodge will be initiated by Richmond team.

Mr. T. Currey, one of the oldest, as well as the best merchants in town, is having a new roof put on his store. He says he will use the old shingles to make fire for 'Lige Harris and Lettuce Marksberry to 'lie' around this winter.

Miss Lenna Hobbs is prepared to do stenographic work and typewriting, and will be glad to wait upon anyone desiring that kind of work. Her charges are fifteen and twenty-five cents a page. Call up Central telephone office.

Prof. Robert Mitchell, who had charge of the Richmond band, has resigned and accepted work with Barlow's Minstrels. Mitchell was bandmaster of the Second Kentucky while the regiment was in camp at Chocomauga.

If we have not given all the local news, ask yourself if you gave us the news item you had that would have sounded well in print and been of interest to others as well as yourself. A newsmen is neither omnipresent nor ubiquitous.

Snead.

Information was received here last week of the death of Mrs. John Snead, at Sedalia, Mo. Mrs. Snead was a sister of Mrs. H. A. Price, of this county, and an estimable lady. She had a number of friends and acquaintances here, who regret exceedingly to hear of her death.

Damp Churches.

Quite a number of young men hereabouts hobble around on canes, complaining of rheumatism. It's a pity the churches are so damp. If the sextons would keep a little fire these chilly Sundays it would prevent this ailment.

At our Cloak and Fur openings Friday, Saturday and Monday, Oct. 11th, 12th and 14th, we will have a special line of fine garments on display for these days that will not be carried in stock, so take advantage of this opportunity and get a nice garment at a low price. The Logan Dry Goods Co.

Danville News.

Rev. John Bruce has sold his fine farm on the Lancaster pike, about three miles from Danville, to Mr. Allen, of Lancaster, for $8,000. Is everybody moving to Boyle county? Mr. Allen married Miss Laura Baker, who was a pupil at Bell Seminary and has many friends here.

All Members Wanted.

The Rev. James E. Wolford, pastor of the Baptist church, will occupy his pulpit Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours. All members are urged to be present at the morning service. The pastoral year has come to a close and the matter will be decided as to whether the pastor will remain.

Dynamo Repaired.

One of the street dynamos at the electric light plant had to be sent to Louisville last week, and when it was being replaced Saturday night caused some trouble with the house lights. Accidents will happen sometimes, and it is unreasonable to think the light plant should be an exception to the rule. Taking it all in all, we have the best lights of any small town in the state.

A Good Name.

"When I was a boy," remarked Uncle Joe Hopper the other day, "we moulded our own bullets. Sometimes one would get a little cold and mould with a flaw, and we called it 'whopper-jawed,' and we would mould it over. Now I am here after some of those 'whopper-jawed' Presbyterians, and I want you, my son, to take this hint," he said to the editor of THE RECORD.

A Deserving Lady.

Danville Advocate:—Mrs. G. L. Schooler, assistant editor of the Advance-Kentuckian, will be a candidate for Enrolling Clerk of the Lower House of the Kentucky Legislature, should that body be Republican. Mrs. Schooler is a very bright woman and by long odds the best end of the firm of which she is the junior member. Should the Republicans be so lucky as to get the General Assembly, they could do no better than elect Mrs. Schooler.

Many Ladies.

The town was full of ladies Saturday, the millinery openings being the drawing card. Every spring and fall these openings are looked forward to with much pleasure by the women, and they come in droves to see the pretty hats, try them on and either have one laid away or take it home. The local dealers, Noel Sisters and Sallie D. Tillett, have stocks of goods this fall that would do credit to any city, and many compliments have been passed upon the taste displayed in their selection. THE RECORD would advise its readers to see these goods before making purchases elsewhere, as you will find the latest styles and most reasonable prices.

A Plucky Woman.

Danville News:—Mrs. Charles McDowell on Tuesday night showed that she possessed, in full measure, true Kentucky pluck and grit. Judge McDowell was away from home and Miss Lettice Green was spending the night with Mrs. McDowell. The only other occupants of the house were the three McDowell children. Early in the morning one of the children awakened his mother and she found that the light, which was usually burned all night, was out. Slipping quietly out of bed Mrs. McDowell went into an adjoining room, in the dark, took a key from the wall, unlocked the door and secured the Judge's big pistol. Returning to the bedroom she opened a window and let in a faint light. She then saw the shadowy form of a man and fired at it. Instead of the man it was his reflection in a big mirror that she hit. She heard the falling glass and, realizing her mistake, she turned the pistol in the direction of a sound and put three bullets into a door. The burglar escaped unhurt, but it is a safe guess that he was badly scared. Mrs. McDowell was perfectly cool during and after the shooting and showed remarkable nerve, as well as good marksmanship.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GARRARD COUNTY:

At the practically unanimous demand of my own party and urgent solicitation of other friends, I have at last consented to become a candidate for the office of County Attorney on the Republican ticket.

I had not expected to again ask for the suffrage of my fellow-citizens, but in view of the great number of electors, regardless of their party affiliation, who have seen proper to insist on my nomination, I have, with some reluctance, consented to accede to their request.

In thus again asking the citizens of my county for their support for this, one of the most important offices in the gift of 1st people, I am not unmindful of the fact that it is an office fraught with the gravest responsibilities and duties, it having not only an important influence on the maintenance of peace and good order throughout the county, but is also perhaps, the most important factor in shaping and controlling the amount of taxes that your Fiscal Court finds it necessary to levy on your property each year to meet the current expenses of your county affairs.

And in this connection, I hope I may be pardoned for referring with some pride to my former administration of this important duty during the term I had the honor to occupy the office, and when, after my repeated assaults on all useless extravagance, and on certain most time honored leaks in your county treasury, the levy necessary to meet all the current expenses of your county, and then leave a handsome surplus in your treasury at the close of the year, was less than one-third, barely more than one-fourth, of the amount of each and every successive levy for county purposes made since my retirement from that position.

And since the late decision of the Court of Appeals that the Court of the city of Lancaster no longer has jurisdiction to try whisky cases, and with blind tigers not only flourishing throughout the county but, with their Government Licenses all over the corporate limits of Lancaster, actually boasting of their dispensing to your sons, each and every week, three barrels of whisky and over two thousand bottles of beer, with the county attorney being hereafter practically the only safeguard to prevent their extending their sphere, and running even wider open than now,—this office is of even greater importance than ever before to such of our parents as wish to protect their boys from this most vicious and destructive influence, and it well behooves them to make no mistake in selecting and deciding who shall hereafter say whether this condition of things shall continue to exist.

With a high conception of the duties of this office, with a higher conception of my obligation to my own and my neighbor's sons, having steadfastly during the twenty-two years of my law practice refused to defend the keeper of a blind tiger, nor in the thirty-nine years of my existence taken a drink of whisky, if honored again by your election to this high trust, I pledge you, that whatever of experience, ability or talent I may possess, shall be exerted to so administer its important duties as to not only encourage and promote peace and good order and a strict obedience to the law throughout the county, but also to prevent any and all illegitimate, improper and unnecessary drains and expenses on your county treasury.

Fearing that pressing business engagements, and the limited time left for my canvass may prevent my seeing each of you personally, I take this method of announcing my candidacy and assuring you that if my candidacy meets with your approval, I shall be very grateful for whatever assistance you may render toward promoting my election.

Respectfully,
Aug 19th. W. McC. JOHNSTON.

JAMES B. MCCREARY.

Cynthiana Times:—The career of this distinguished and favorite leader of the Kentucky democracy is one long and useful service, both state and national. In a nut shell, it may be briefly summarized as follows:
Born and reared on a farm in Madison county, his earlier education received in the neighborhood schools and Richmond Seminary; graduated with honors at Centre College, and afterward from the law department of Cumberland University, Tennessee. Entered upon the practice of law at the age of 21 at Richmond, and has been an active and successful member of the bar ever since, except during such periods as his official duties—civil and military—have taken him from home. Served with distinction in the Confederate armies under Gens. Bragg,

Morgan and Breckinridge. Chosen as presidential elector on the democratic ticket in 1868, but declined, as he had been out of the Confederate service less than three years. Delegate to the national convention same year, which nominated Horatio Seymour for president and Frank P. Blair, Jr. for vice president. Represented Madison county in the legislature three terms—1869-73—without opposition in his own party; was speaker during his second and third terms, and such was his ability and fairness as a presiding officer that no appeal from his decision was ever sustained.
The reputation and popularity he gained during his service in the legislature resulted in his being chosen in 1875 as the democratic candidate for governor—when he was only 36 years of age—over several able and distinguished democrats. His republican opponent was Gen. John M. Harlan, at present a justice of the supreme court of the United States. The two rival candidates made a joint canvass of the State. The campaign was heated, though the candidates treated each other with the marked courtesy and gentility characteristic of the true gentlemen of the old school. Col. McCreary was elected by an approximate majority of 37,000. His term of four years earned for him the deserved sobriquet of "The Model Governor." The constitution making him ineligible for a second term, which alone prevented Gov. McCreary's re-

A CARD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GARRARD COUNTY:

As I have been confined to my room for two months and could not get out among the people, I take this method of asking the voters of Garrard County for their support for Jailer at the next November Election.
If elected, I assure you that I will discharge every duty of the office faithfully and efficiently.
Under the direction of my physician I am at Martinsville, Ind., where I am improving in health, both as to the rheumatism and my eyes, and I hope to be out soon.
Thanking all my friends for their support and for their friendly interest in my race during my misfortune I am,
Your Friend,
RICE BENGE.

PAINT LICK.

There is a move on foot to build a City Hall here.
Bert Johnson fell off his horse and broke his arm.
W S Fish went to Cincinnati on business Monday.
New lines of premiums at R. L. Jennings & Co.
James Champ sold a nice horse mule colt to G T Higginbotham for $40.
D C Pullins sold his farm of sixty three acres to Pleas Murray for $43 per acre.
How can Jennings & Co., sell those late style overcoats so cheap? If Mr J V Logan turned over a bucket of hot water and scalded one of his feet pretty badly.
New line of Hunting Coats, Guns, Loading Tools, Shells, &c. R. L. Jennings & Co.
A case of small pox was reported to be at J R Henry's, but he says the doctors don't always know.
Mrs E H Ballard has rented her farm to G T Higginbotham for next year. She will have a sale on the 17th and sell off all her stock, crop, &c.
W S Fish collected a debt a few days ago that was made before the war. Billy must be a good collector or the man must be a mighty honest fellow.
The railroad officials are talking of stopping up the only passway between this county and Madison. If it does all travel between Richmond and Lancaster will be cut off—the mail from Wallaceton via this place to Cartersville will be stopped and we will be in an awful predicament.
Mr Guy Rice's mother and sister are visiting him this week. Mr R P Slade, of Berry, was here this week and organized a K. P. lodge. Mr R N Beazley went to Evansville, Ind., in the interest of his man-power machine. Jack Adams has returned from Rockcastle, where he has been on business.
Miss Rebecca Williams, who has been spending some time in the cities gathering up the most up-to-date ideas and styles in ladies tailoring and dress making, will return to her home near here, on Oct. 12, and resume her work. She spent a few weeks with her uncle, Mr. W. G. Hopkins, at Forsythe, Ill. Those wishing the best and latest style work will do well to see her.

MARKSBURY.

Mrs Lucy Sutton, of Lancaster, visited Miss Jennie Swope, Thursday. Mrs Susan Anderson, of Lancaster, and Miss Amanda Anderson, of Bryantsville, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs Cyrus Daly. Mrs John Greening, of Hustonville, spent last week with relatives here. Miss Lynne Moss, of Lancaster has been the guest of Miss Mary Durham. Miss Aggie Bourne and niece, of Bettis, spent Friday with Mrs Margaret Sutton. The Ladies' Working Society met Thursday with Miss Jennie Swope. It will meet Oct. 17, with Miss Jennie Pollard. Miss Carrie Haggins, of Nicholasville, is the guest of Mrs Fred Sutton. Mrs J E Eubanks, of Hubble, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs Nixon Perkins, last Wednesday. Mr James Speaks and mother, visited friends at Lexington, the first of the week. Mrs William Parks, Jr., and sons, returned Sunday from a visit to her parents, near Flatwoods. J C Saylor, attorney at law, of Pineville, and J C Moss, of Lancaster, were with friends here Sunday.

MANSE.

There were services at Mt. Tabor and Fairview last Sunday.
Miss Bessie Doty will represent Manse in the Contest at Lancaster. Her subject will be "Woman's Vengeance."
The Teachers Association will be held at Cartersville, Saturday Oct. 19. The young folks will have a Chestnut party in the afternoon. All are invited. Come and bring a basket of dinner and a full determination to have a jolly time.
Rev. White did not accept the call given him by the Presbyterian church. The church is yet without a pastor. If the members would all work as earnestly as Bro. James Denny, the good church work would continue till the Lord sends them a pastor.
Miss Annie Burke is visiting her sister at this place. Mrs Tom Palmer has been very sick but is recovering. Mr and Mrs J H Burke and pretty baby have been visiting relatives in Danville. Misses Norma Elmore, of Lancaster, and Minnie Woods, of Stanford, have been visiting Misses Wallace. The entertainment given at Stony Point, Friday night, was a very enjoyable affair, and was well attended. Miss Sue Higgins and Miss Royston paid a flying visit to Marksbury several days ago.

STONE.

Wm Moberley sold to Wm Lear one mule colt at $65.
C M Moberley bought of Frank Folger a heifer at 5c.
C M Moberley sold to Loid Sanders some shoats at 5c.
James Littrell sold to Raymond Ray one yearling colt at $10.
Loid Sanders bought of James Littrell four steer calves at $60.
Brother Meldrum filled the pulpit at Scott's Fork Sunday, and preached a good sermon to a large crowd.
The picnic at Stone was a success—big crowd, good speaking, good behavior and plenty to eat, and all had a good time.
Mrs Jennie Broadbudd attended meeting at Scott's Fork and visited Mrs T L Sanders. Mr Coy Sanders is on the sick list.

FLATWOODS.

Lige Worrell sold a mule colt for $50.00.
George Rogers swapped horses with J C Fox for $80 to boot.
J H Miller sold two yearling steers to J N Denny for $56.
C C Close and Wm Campbell have bought Mrs Martha Bell's farm for $225.
Wm Campbell gave Mat Baker a yearling colt and $25 for a 4-year-old horse.
Mrs Mary Elam is visiting her brother, Joseph Bolan and family, near Wallaceton. Robert White visited his mother, Mrs Martha Bell last week. Sam Starnes has moved to Middlesboro. John Lawson visited his brother, Joseph Lawson and family last week. Mr T Robinson, salesman for the new Richmond wholesale grocery house, visited W H Furr last week.

PREACHERSVILLE.

J H Rigby sold eight nice yearling steers to Thomas Shaw for $250.
Born, to the wife of Mr Marshall Walker, on Oct. 2nd, a nine pound girl.
Wm Sprinkles sold forty sheep for $2 per head.
H B Cockrill to Mr Chancellor, for $2 per head.
Walter Warren has bought several calves from different parties for about $11 per head.
Fred Shaw, who is one of the best carpenters in this county is building a home for Lewis Bell at Crab Orchard.
Uncle John Brown has returned to Rockcastle county to stay for some time with his children. Mrs J B and J L Hutchins and Miss Fannie Cockrill, spent Friday with Mrs M. Boler. J F Cummins and wife, of Stanford, spent Sunday with their parents, at this place. Mrs Sol Rigby has been visiting her sister at Lebanon Junction for a few days. W H Cummins made a business trip to Stanford, Monday.

MT. HEBRON.

Rain is much needed in this section. Candidates are quite numerous in this locality.
The protracted meeting closed at this place Thursday night with six additions.
Mr. Dean is erecting a dwelling house on his farm near here, which is to be occupied by his son of Jessamine county.
Mr. Steven Vanderpool was elected trustee of Sunnyside district Saturday, Mr. N. T. Grow was also elected trustee at Locust Grove.
Quite a number from here attended the Sunday school picnic at Scott's Fork Saturday, which was quite a success. Misses Lena and Jennie Rogers, who have been the guests of Miss Edna Scott, have returned to their home in Stanford. Miss Dora Martin, of Parksville, is the charming guest of Miss Hattie Duncan. The Misses Broadbudd, of Paint Lick, were the guests of Mrs. Mary A. Todd last Wednesday night. Mrs. J. A. Clark and little son, Eugene, of Danville, spent the latter part of last week here. Mr. Michael Forbes, of McCreary, spent a part of last week with his sister, Mrs. John Jackson.
"I had long suffered from indigestion," writes G. A. LeDeis, Cedar City, Mo. "Like others I tried many preparations but never found anything that did me good until I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly I put on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining fast and will soon be able to work. Before he used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck. F. P. Frisbie, 1m

Do you suffer from piles? If so do not turn to surgery for relief. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will act more quickly, surely and safely, saving you the expense and danger of an operation. F. P. Frisbie. 1m
The man with antieclipsable views must indulge in vestibule trains of thought.
W. T. Wesson, Gholsonville, Va., druggist, writes: "Your One Minute Cough Cure gives perfect satisfaction. My customers say it is the best remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles." F. P. Frisbie. 1m
A small boy says it is impossible to judge the effect of a slipper by its size.
C. M. Phelps, Forestdale, Vt., says his child was completely cured of a bad case of eczema by the use of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of all counterfeits. It instantly relieves piles. F. P. Frisbie. 1m
Many a man would be smarter if he knew half as much as he thinks he does.
Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. Strikes at the root of the trouble and draws out the inflammation. The children's favorite Cough Cure. F. P. Frisbie. 1m
Lewis Ockerman, Goshen, Ind.: "DeWitt's Little Early Risers never bend me double like other pills, but do their work thoroughly and make me feel like a boy." Certain thorough, gentle. F. P. Frisbie. 1m
"There's always a slip betwixt the sidewalk and the ship."
When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to McRoberts' drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headache and constipation. 1m

DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They are safe, prompt, gentle, effective in removing all impurities from the liver and bowels. Small and easy to take. Never gripe or distress. F. P. Frisbie. 1m
A book agent is very often a woman with a history.
Stricken With Paralysis.
Henderson Grinnett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of an arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by R. E. McRoberts, druggist. 1m
A small boy with long golden curls, arrayed in a sailor suit, may not be the prettiest thing on earth, but it is useless to argue that point with his mother.
Brain-Food Nonsense.
Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for brains. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. Green's reliable remedies at Stormes' drug store. Mr. Archibald Brown, wife and daughter, Miss Stella, of Danville, have been visiting Mrs. R. G. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rice have gone to house-keeping in Nashville, and will reside there permanently.

Messrs. Howard Coleman and Robert Sauley, of Stanford, were the guests of relatives (?) here Sunday.

Miss Sallie Lou Myers has returned from several days' visit to her aunt, Mrs. Mary Rice, of Marksbury.

Mr. John Norris, who has been confined to his bed at the home of his parents in Frankfort for some time with typhoid fever, has returned very much improved and resumed his duties at R. H. Batson's store.

Mr. James I. White and family, of Mt. Vernon, have arrived and will make this city their future home, occupying the Thompson property, on water street. Mr. White is a very energetic man, was a sheriff of his county, and United States Commissioner. He is a brother of Mrs. Hobbs.

Our sanctum was honored the other day by a visit from our good old friend Uncle Joe Hopper. He was born and reared in Lancaster and has many friends among the older citizens. His talk of Lancaster in the good old days was exceedingly interesting. "Uncle Joe," as he is familiarly called, is in much better health than in former years, and holds his age remarkably well. He is a man of extraordinary intellect, and to listen to him is a great treat. It was interesting to hear his conversation with Capt. F. J. White, of this office, on things that happened here back in the good old days. He devotes his entire time to evangelical work, and has certainly done noble work for the Master. That he may be spared many more years of health and usefulness, is our earnest prayer.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL

Alex Miller's 'bus meets the trains now. A small fare is charged.

A great treat is in store for those who witness "The Land O' Cotton."

The scenery is elaborate and company, headed by Milt G. Barlow, has been carefully selected. Opera House October 23.

How is your supply of stationery holding out? See if you need any thing and 'Phone us, and we will be after the order quicker than old Satan can search a feather. We don't ding-dong after merchants for work, but take it for granted that they know what they want and when they want it.

A Successful Operation.

Dr. Acton tells us that he successfully removed a bullet from Mr. J. Clark's thigh which had been there for thirty-one years. The ball has not caused any trouble until a few months ago, when trouble of the sciatic nerve set up caused by pressure from continuous horseback riding.

Contest.

The annual contest composed of representatives from the public schools of Garrard county will be held in Lancaster, October 25th, under the management of Miss Amanda Anderson. Two medals will be given, one for the best boy and the other for the best girl speaker. Ages from 11 to 17. tf

For Sale or Rent.

The house and lot of Mrs. Osee Bush. Nice property. The house is a two story frame building and is situated on Richmond street in Lancaster, Ky. For terms call on or address, W. L. Williams, 9-17-17.

Low Rates to Minneapolis.

One fare round trip Queen & Crescent Route, October 7, 8, 10 and 12th, account National Convention of the Christian Church, finest service in the south. Be sure your tickets read via this line. Ask ticket agent for particulars. W. C. Rinearson, G. P. A.

Supper at Pleasant Hill.

Another basket supper at the Pleasant Hill school house, on new Danville pike, Friday week, the 18th. The pupils will entertain the audience by reciting several select pieces, after which the baskets will be sold to the highest bidder. All are cordially invited to attend. Exercises begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Can't Do Without 'Em.

People living out in the county are fast catching on to the need of a telephone, and many houses have them. Those who have put them in say they would not be without them for many times the cost. As every physician in the county has a 'phone, this fact alone is worth the cost of the instrument in case of sickness or accident.

The Carlisle Mercury remarks that the home grown, hand-spanked, barefooted, hard-fisted country boy makes a much better fighter in the battles of life than the pampered, high-collared, creased-trousered lads of our cities, whose clothes have always been brushed with a whisk broom instead of a shingle.

Now Is A Good Time.

If you want first-class pictures made, now is a good time to drive over to Danville and have the artist, E. H. Fox, make them. He has all the latest improved methods of doing the very best work, and as the weather is pleasant it is a splendid time to have the work done. His work has few equals and no superiors. His charges are reasonable and the work is done promptly.

Feeling Trouble.

Quite a large number of people in this vicinity have been suffering from a disease of the ears. A rising comes in the ear which causes excruciating pain, it being so far in the ear that the old-time and best remedy—a poultice—cannot be applied. We asked a doctor what it was, but to print his answer would require more space than we have to spare this issue.

Mary's Muttonhead Bean.

Mary had a little lamb, it followed her to church, and then it stood around the door like an owl on a perch. "Why don't the little lamb come in?" the watchful people cried. Why, Mary told the silly thing to wait outside. So you, each gentle maiden, may one and all still find some sheep head waiting near the door, if you admire that kind.—Ex.

Public Sale.

I will, at my residence on the Lexington pike, on Saturday, October 18, 1901, at 1:30 o'clock, p. m., sell to the highest bidder the following property: One mare and colt, one nice filly, some nice milk cows, four nice heifers, one young bull, ready for service, some farming implements, corn in shock, four acres of hemp, and two stacks of hay. tf

Fine Farm For Sale.

17 acres of good land, part in cultivation. Good metal-roof dwelling containing nine rooms, two halls and two porches. All necessary out-buildings, large barn and ice house. Never-failing stock water. Cistern and well at house. Early and late fruit in abundance. Place is known as the Lawless farm and is situated on Buckeye pike, six miles from Lancaster. Terms easy. Call on or address Susie Sandigo, Teatersville, Garrard county, Kentucky.

Duncantown vs. Battle Row.

Considerable interest was worked up in the colored school trustee race Saturday, and several wagons were run to carry voters to and from the voting place. Frazee Owens and Cary Mullins were the candidates, the former residing in Duncantown and the latter on Battle Row. The race narrowed down between the two settlements and Mullins was defeated. As one darkey said, "Tis the first time the Chute ever lost out."

A Great Show.

A novel, new and strong attraction will be given at Garrard Opera House on November 21, under the auspices of the Lancaster Commercial Club. Attractive features will be introduced for the entertainment of all ages and classes. Among them, a fine violin will be given to the best old-time fiddler; no notes but the pat of the foot, the nod of the head and the wink of the eye. Those desiring to enter contest will address Prof. J. H. Patterson, M'gr.

A Progressive Citizen.

Mr. H. B. Northcott has broken ground for an immense building on his lot, near the L. & N. tracks. The house will be two stories high, with basement. It will be used to handle his poultry business, which is one of the largest and best in central Kentucky. Mr. Northcott is a citizen who is a benefit to the town. He's for push and progress, and believes in keeping his money at home. He has paid out many dollars to our farmers, and always gives them top-notch prices for their produce of all kinds.

A Successful Meeting.

One of the most successful meetings conducted in Lancaster in recent years, is that in progress at the Presbyterian church, under the charge of Rev. Joe Hopper and Dr. J. L. McKee. The preaching is done by Bro. Hopper, and his discourses have had the effect of awakening great interest among the members of that church, as well as reminding others who have heard him of their duties to their God, to themselves and to their fellow man. Services are held at ten o'clock a. m., and seven p. m. The house is filled at each service.

To Begin Work Soon.

Somerset Republican: Col. L. F. Hubble was in town yesterday and left for the vicinity of Burnside, where men are at work finishing up his railway survey. He tells us that the engineers have finished the survey in Wayne county and the cost of grading there will be exceedingly light, and Wayne people are almost unanimous in giving right of way. He expects the company to begin construction as soon as preliminary work is complete, which he believes will be at an early date. At any rate the road is a certainty and will bring much profit to this county, both in its construction and operation.

Honor for a Young Man.

At the last meeting of the Fiscal Court "Squire Wm. H. Kinnaird" tendered his resignation as treasurer of the county, his health not permitting him to devote the time to the duties. The court then appointed Mr. Owen W. Shugars to fill the vacancy. The appointment is a deserving one, as Mr. Shugars is a young man thoroughly capable in every way. He is a steady, sober young man, one in whom the public will find a faithful officer. This shows what strict attention to business and sobriety will accomplish. His bond is signed by Messrs. Lewis Y. Leavell and J. B. Sanders, which makes it gilt-edge, sure.

Farm for Sale.

Having decided to locate permanently in Lancaster, Ky., I will sell to the highest bidder on Saturday, October 19, 1901, my farm consisting of 104 and a fraction acres situated on Danville and Lexington turnpike, one mile southwest of Camp Dick Robinson, at Marcellus, Ky. It is within half a mile of store, post office, church, school house and blacksmith shop, and within six miles of Danville. The house has ten rooms and all necessary out-buildings. Good fencing and never-failing water. Land is in fine state of cultivation. Will sell privately. Terms easy. F. B. Kemper, Lancaster, Ky., or C. K. Poindexter, Marcellus, Ky. Sale will take place at the residence of J. B. Kemper.

To the Purchasing Public.

As you are all well aware, we are not given to "blowing" about our goods, what we have and what we don't have, but we make it a point to keep only the very best of everything in our line, sell them at reasonable prices, and in this way retain the confidence of the public. Our long residence in Lancaster has enabled us to learn the wants of the people, and by constant study of their interests and the devotion of plenty of time to buying our stocks, we are now enjoying that reward that always comes to the honest dealing all 'round. It is with great pleasure that we invite you to inspect this season's stock of goods, and we know that you can do no better anywhere in either quality or prices. We desire to call special attention to our line of new fall coats, in the newest styles at patterns, fur jackets, dress goods, rainy day skirt patterns, colored taffeta silks, black cheviote serge, flannels in choicest styles and colorings, fancy elderdown in exquisite stripes and plaids, outing flannels in neat checks and stripes, velvets, underwear, hosiery, gloves, neckwear, blankets, comforts, and in fact everything to be found in a first-class, up-to-date store. We also carry a fine line of rugs, curtains, umbrellas and furs, to which we invite your attention. A call at our store will convince you that we are up-to-date in styles, and will save you money on prices. cc-101 J. Joseph.

Some Good Advice.

The following taken, from the Mt. Vernon Signal, is well worth the careful and prayerful perusal of every voter. The Signal says: In the selection of county officers, too often do the people fail to do their duty in the selection of the proper men for what they consider the minor offices, or in other words, those offices which are regarded of no importance whatever, which are in reality the most beneficial for the general improvement of the county—that of Magistrate. In this county especially do we need as magistrates, sober, upright, energetic and enterprising men, men who will look to the interest of the county, because from the Fiscal Court must come our support, to make certain advancements which are necessary to place our county where it ought to be, and must be placed. If there is ever any decided improvement made in our roads, which are the greatest drawback to commercial enterprise, growth and prosperity, of anything that confronts our people, upon the Fiscal Court rests the burden and if we elect a man or set of men to take charge of our county officers, whose highest ambition is to get a jug of whisky and rush behind a lumber pile to divide it, how can you good people expect your county to grow and prosper, and how can you vote for such men? Ponder well the great questions, which confront you and when you go to the polls in next November, cast your vote for that man who will do most good for the county and its people, "and all will be well."

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record."

Some men would get along better on the journey of life if they didn't consult so many contradictory guide-books.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is not a mere stimulant to tried nature. It affords the stomach complete and absolute rest by digesting the food you eat. You don't have to diet but can enjoy all the good food you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure instantly relieves that distressed feeling after eating, giving you new life and vigor. F. P. Frisbie.

The Census Bureau has announced its statistics of commercial floriculture in sixteen States, showing an aggregate value of $11,000,000 of flowers and foliage plants raised in 1899, with 3,885 establishments, and $35,000,000 as the value of the lands and buildings.

With a wheat crop estimated at 200,000,000 bushels, a crop corn by no means so seriously injured by drought as was indicated earlier in the season, and with prime cattle and hogs selling on the Chicago market for $7 per hundred there seems to be still cause for thankfulness on the part of the American farmer and on the part of the very large proportion of the population whose success is directly or indirectly dependent upon agricultural prosperity.

The orange crop of the approaching season is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at between 1,000,000 boxes, which will net the growers an average of at least two dollars per box. Experts hold to the view that within five years the yield of oranges in Florida will be as large as it ever was, and as a much greater acreage is now planted in groves, the crop will continue to increase in size until it reaches enormous proportions. It is the opinion of the department that the glory of Florida as an orange producing State lies in the near future, not in the past.

A correspondent of the Ohio Farmer writes that a few years ago he drew to his barn a stack of hay not really mouldy, but a little musty in smell. He thought it was not bad enough to hurt it for feeding purposes, but in a few days after he began to use it he found his butter was off flavor, and it continued so until he began on good, sweet hay again, when it came all right about as quickly as it went all wrong. He was lucky, for some times it is not as easy to feed the taints out of milk and butter as it is to feed them in. Avoid all musty and mouldy fodder or grain of all kinds, especially for cows in milk.

Mr. W. R. Wills, of Cynthiana, recently bought an extra weanling mule for $65.

One pair six-year-old mare mules sold in Washington county, County court day for $187.25.

Wm. Hall, of Marion county, sold one suckling mare mule colt for $100.

Nothing is so efficient in removing paint from clothing as turpentine. Apply with woolen cloth, rubbing lightly.

Mrs. Hobbs, the accommodating operator at the telephone exchange, sold twenty acres of corn at Preachersville in the field for $2.50.

Nearly all the farmers in this county have their hay baled now, as it takes up less room and is far more satisfactory in every way.

Lawson & Fox shipped to Cincinnati Saturday, a car load of cattle and hogs. They paid 5 to 5 1/2 for the hogs.

Sweeney Morgan bought of G. A. Ruble at Buena Vista, 110 lambs for which he paid $1 per head. They were shipped to Cincinnati from Burgin.

Raisin Cake—Half cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 cups flour, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 teaspoons corn starch and 4 cup seeded raisins.

The first thing in fall cleaning is to look to the fire places and stoves, making all necessary repairs before the first autumn fire is started, and don't neglect to have the flues thoroughly cleaned. So much comfort is enjoyed and so much dirt and soot is escaped by looking to these things.

The average value of the mules in the country last year was $10 a head more than the average value of horses.

Germany imports every year about one hundred and forty thousand dozens of hog livers for the preparation of liver sausages.

The Census Bureau has announced its statistics of commercial floriculture in sixteen States, showing an aggregate value of $11,000,000 of flowers and foliage plants raised in 1899, with 3,885 establishments, and $35,000,000 as the value of the lands and buildings.

With a wheat crop estimated at 200,000,000 bushels, a crop corn by no means so seriously injured by drought as was indicated earlier in the season, and with prime cattle and hogs selling on the Chicago market for $7 per hundred there seems to be still cause for thankfulness on the part of the American farmer and on the part of the very large proportion of the population whose success is directly or indirectly dependent upon agricultural prosperity.

The orange crop of the approaching season is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at between 1,000,000 boxes, which will net the growers an average of at least two dollars per box. ABUNDANCE OF FORAGE.

Orchard Grass Yields It Year After Year and Requires Hardly Any Attention.

Can anyone tell why orchard grass, one of the most common as well as one of the most valuable forage plants in the United States, is not better known and more appreciated? Many a farmer does not even recognize it at sight, though he has had chance to observe it all his life. A veritable gypsy, it has found a home in every country of Europe and America, in northern Africa and in Asia. Cheerfully adapting itself to all soils and conditions, it flourishes in wet or dry weather, sun or shade, and in a porous subsoil will send its roots to a great depth.

This perhaps accounts for its persistence. When once it has secured a foothold it may be relied upon to yield an abundance of forage year after year with no attention except that it thrives best under cropping. In the spring it is fit for pasturing considerably earlier than other grasses, and its blossoming season is the same as that of red clover, and they are frequently sown together by farmers who have learned the value of the combination. A Kentucky stock grower, who relies upon it for his pastures, once said relative to its capacity for sustaining itself when other grasses are dried up: "It will make more growth in one summer day than blue grass will make in a week." Such a commendation from the land of the famous blue grass pastures is surely a great tribute to its good qualities.

A farmer in northern Ohio has written enthusiastically of a piece of orchard grass on his own farm which seeded itself 26 years ago and which has been cut annually every June since. This season it stood higher than any in the vicinity and was so heavy that it lodged. For early soiling and long pasturage he considers it superior to any other grass, but he utters a caution about cutting it as soon as matured, for if allowed to get dead ripe it is of little account.

Like other drought resisting grasses it shows a disposition to grow in tussocks, but this may be prevented by thorough preparation of the ground before sowing and an abundance of seed uniformly distributed. Two bushels of seed to the acre are usually considered sufficient, or half that amount when sown with clover. It is said to be much less exhausting to the soil than timothy, which is so often grown with clover. It was introduced into England from Virginia in 1764, and is there so highly esteemed that it has taken rank as one of the most valuable forage plants produced in the "light little island." The luxuriant growth of its aftermath makes it especially fine for pasturage, and stock of all kinds relish it. Sheep, it is said, will leave all other grasses to feed upon it.—Farmer's Review.

CORN CUTTING KNIFE.
Blade is Made from an Old Scythe and Inclosed with Two Pieces of Hard Wood.

For cutting corn the homemade knife, portrayed herewith, has been found very useful. The blade is cut from an old scythe, as shown by dotted lines. The blade is cut partly across, two feet, and a part hammered back eight inches, to use as a handle. It is then inclosed with two pieces of hickory or other hard wood, which may be held in place with wire bands.—Farm and Home.

Stacking Fodder Out-of-Doors.
An Iowa correspondent wants to know whether we would advise stacking corn fodder out-of-doors. We certainly do not advise such a practice, if the idea is to stack the fodder in the same way that hay is usually stacked in the western states; that is, by building it up in ricks and leaving it exposed to the fall and winter storms. If fodder is cut when in proper condition, and left in the shocks until it is thoroughly cured, it can then be stacked under cover to very good advantage; but for a better practice would be to get a good shredder and run the fodder through it, and then you will have as nice feeding product as you would care to handle; besides in this way you save the expense of husking the corn by hand.—Prairie Farmer.

FLY NETS FOR SADDLE HORSES
And Fly Riding Whips with Which to Rid a Horse of Insects Are Now in Vogue.

"Fly nets for horses in harness are old as the hills," said a dealer in horse equipments, reports the New York Sun. "But saddle fly nets, for saddle horses, are something comparatively new. They are made of fine mesh netting, and are fastened to the cantle of the saddle, from which they extend back over the horse's haunches. The net is made of leather cords, commonly in russet, sometimes in black, attached across in parallel lines to five bars or tapes running lengthwise of the horse's back, the free ends of the cords hanging in the usual manner at the horse's sides.

"As to appearance such a net, seen on a saddle horse, is not only entirely slightly and appropriate there, but it gives to the horse's outfit a touch of picturesqueness.

"Another comparatively new thing for a rider's use is the fly riding whip which has, attached to a handle of about the same length, a hair switch about 18 inches in length. This is something not intended for park use, for which the saddle fly net is entirely suitable, but rather for use in switching the flies off a horse while riding along on the highways and byways; perhaps on a short-tailed horse, or it might be, in a region where flies were particularly bothersome."

A PAIR OF LUNATICS.

BY CLAUDE BRYAN.

In Quebec everyone spends the summer evening on Dufrain terrace, where the view is one of the finest in the world. Three hundred feet below the promenade the majestic St. Lawrence sweeps out through the narrow-quebecosis. In the near east is the beautiful Isle of Orleans, and 30 leagues beyond Cape Tourmente stands out against the sky. The intervening distance is marked by the twinkling lights of the Cote de Beaupre, a graceful upland nestled in the Laurentides. The tulle ensemble is magnificent by day, but indescribably beautiful at night.

I was a stranger in Quebec, having just arrived the day before by the steamer from England. After dinner I strolled out on the terrace to finish my cigar. Some 300 paces brought me to the south end, where the stairway runs up the glacis to the king's bastion. I paused to contemplate the panorama that spread out beneath me. At the base of Cape Diamond, in middle stream, were moored H. M. S. Crescent and four consort. A sailor's chorus held up on the terrace pavilion struck up a sentimental march. A sentimental flood swept over me, and my spirit wandered in a northern Eden.

Almost comatose with pleasure, I stood thus silently for several minutes. Then, a passing rhapsody broke my spell. "Say, wouldn't this jar you! To hear an eighteenth century band tooting 'Rule Britannia.' I'll bet a cent they haven't even heard of rag-time up here in Quebec; and we've had it in Brooklyn for dear knows how long."

I smiled, though the face, the voice, the whine, the everything, annoyed me. "You see," continued the cadaver, bearing hard upon his nasal notes, "I got a little holiday from business the other day, and I thought I'd take a jaunt up here to Quebec. But, sheep me, if it ain't the slowest place I ever been in. Why, there ain't a blessed thing going on. And I don't see a thing for climbing up break-neck stairs, and tearing uphill and downhill in an old-fashioned caliche that threatens to go to pieces every minute. Why on earth don't they pull down these badly old gates and run trolleys up 'em? Look here, I've just had some Cap street in Manhattan, why we'd blast the rock away and turn it into a boulevard, or at least have a roof garden at the top of the cliff. It's all rot, absolute rot, this talk about its being picturesque and all that; what use, for instance, is that old citadel up there? Why don't they knock it down and build an observatory, or a bicycle track, or something?"

The unromantic nature of this stranger worried me; yet he failed to notice my taciturnity, and proceeded in a high key. "Yes, partner, this is a slower town than Portland, Me. Why, there ain't even a music hall running in the summer time; and if you want to drink on Sunday you have to buy it Saturday night. Have a smoke?"

I decided with what friendliness I could simulate. "And they tell me," he continued, "that there ain't even a butcher shop in town; and that the ladies have to go to market and buy their meat and vegetables off the wagons of the habitants. Fancy, having to go to market with a basket on your arm, and having to know French. I call that a low language, and you bet, I'll never learn it."

I knew he wouldn't, but kept myself from saying so. Just here I thought I saw him wonder if I were dumb. Still for all that he scarcely faltered. Here at the corner of the Julian bastion! I shuffled and sighed even from the diaphragm. Then, like a flash, a strange method of revenge suggested itself to me. Up to now, my voice had hardly once been heard. With that preface to feign insanity was easy.

I leaned across and looked at him with the whites of my eyes. "Yours is a sad, sad story," I whispered, dramatically. "Do you want me to tell you that you're really George Washington, and that they won't even rent you a room in the white house?"

"Who said anything about the white house, you daffy," he exclaimed; but I observed that his bravado hardly concealed the tremor in his voice.

"Daffy," I whispered, hoarsely, and with growing vehemence. "I never let anyone call me daffy. And one boy at school called me daffy, and I cut him up so badly that they clipped my wings and put a chain around my neck."

The fellow started; for while I had the hawn of a guardsman, Sweet Caporal had taken a cubit from his stature. "But some day, I sort of like you." (Here I took a savage grip upon his arm.) "Why do you say to a stroll down to the Cul-de-sac?"

No answer. But I felt him shake all over at the prospect of a lonely walk with a crazy man. We shuffled along the terrace, I well-nigh supporting his nervous body.

When we had reached the chateau end of the terrace, I felt him try to slip my grasp. I purposely relaxed it. A moment later a policeman here in sight, and wrenching himself free, my companion walked thence against the railing and waited, whence his concealment amusement required my best effort.

Then I saw the officer coming toward me gingerly, and my late companion skulking in his rear. But I was not yet willing to end there. "See here," I said, when the policeman had reached me. "You have just been talking to a lunatic. The poor fellow fancies everyone is crazy and seeking to kill him. I am his guardian, and he has been giving parades of armed men to the evening. He is of a good New York family, and his physician sent him to Quebec for a change of air. I am now trying to get him quietly into his room at the chateau; and to save a scene I have given him the liberty he seems to want."

The policeman gave me his most knowing wink; and looked sadly across at my mented companion, whose discretion had kept him just beyond our voices. Then leaving a sign of officious sympathy the officer continued his best.

I quickly lost myself in the crowd, and soon sought my room.

Next morning I heard that a young man on the promenade had been rather roughly handled, and was now locked safely in No. 61, awaiting an examination as to the condition of his mind. The keen-eyed policeman had once more upon my victim, and, supposing that he had evaded his chaparon, had taken him in charge.

I myself left Quebec by the next train—the mental examination still pending; and although I never heard more of my feigned friend, I fancy he had some difficulty in establishing his sanity.—Canadian Magazine.

Easier, or Harder, to Do Our Duty.
Every duty we perform helps us to perceive, and to be readier to perform, some other duty. And, as John Ruskin says, "every duty we omit obscures some truth we should have known. Thus we are all the time gaining or losing in the line of right doing. Each time it is easier, or harder, for us to do next time as we should do.—S. S. Times.

When the Hair Falls Out.

accompanied by mucous patches in the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored spots, swollen glands, itching muscles and bones, the disease is making rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this disease, the only antidote for this specific poison. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently. My Condition Could Have Been No Worse.

In the fall of 1897 I contracted Blood Poison. I tried three doctors, but their treatment did me no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, ulcers appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored spots and offensive sores. I suffered severely from rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted as I was can understand my sufferings. I had about all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S.

I must confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This was truly encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a fair trial. At that time the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the disease completely under control. Some of the ulcers healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disorder; I have been strong and healthy ever since.

DOG AND PARROT CASE.

Two Novel Canadian Libel Suits Growing Out of Actions of Pet Animals.

Two worthy wives mutually sued each other for what they called libel before the correctional chamber. Plaintiff No. 1, being asked to state her case, said it all came about owing to a parrot, says a Paris correspondent of the London Telegraph. The bird had a vicious disposition, and its mistress (the defendant) egged it on to be even worse than it was by nature. The plaintiff could not put her head out of the window without the bird shouting opprobrious epithets at her and generally libeling her character.

Before deciding the case the judge said he would hear the other, whereupon the second matron stated that what she had to complain of was her neighbor's dog. It had been taught to bark at her whenever she went out, and so maliciously clever was the animal that at the instigation of its mistress it actually threw stones at her window panes by tossing them up with its paws.

By this time the people in court were convulsed with laughter, but the judge remained serious. In commenting upon the two cases he pointed out that neither action had been correctly described as a suit for libel. Then he rendered his decision, which was worthy of a Solomon. One of the plaintiffs, he said, should have prosecuted the dog, the other should have cited the parrot. Both actions having been wrongly instituted, he should therefore dismiss them both.
